Have you ever wondered how life would be with garbage and toxic waste all around us? Well, if you haven't you should! I don't want to live in a world where toxins are all around us. You will be learning about how recycling is important to my community, the future and myself. Well, please pay attention and prepare yourself to go on an amazing ride to my community, the future and you will also get to meet me and find out about what recycling means to me.

First of all, in my community, we recycle a lot. We recycle all the things we can. In my community, recycling is important to everyone. My community recycles because there are small children around and we don't want them to play in dirty water, or have them playing with anything dangerous or harmful. I recycle for my health and everyone else's health. I hope that your community is recycling to help people big & small.

In conclusion, recycling is important to me because we need it for our future. Not only that, but it comes in handy for our community and ourselves. Recycling is very important to children. These children are all our hopes to keep us alive. Please recycle now so our planet earth can always be around for future generations to enjoy.
